STRETCH WRAP

HOW TO REMOVE ZOOTATTOO® STRETCH WRAP

When to Remove

- Remove the application after 3-5 days.
- If bleeding is excessive, remove the wrap earlier, clean the tattoo with a soft soap, and apply a new wrap once the tattoo has settled.

How to Remove

- Slowly peel the wrap back over itself rather than pulling it upward to minimize discomfort.
- For easier removal, soak the wrap with warm water or apply a gentle oil (like coconut oil) to loosen it.

Additional Tips

- While Bathing: Remove the wrap during a warm bath or shower to make the process smoother. Use warm, soapy water to help dissolve the adhesive.
- Excessive Bleeding: If you notice seepage due to bleeding, remove the wrap, clean the area thoroughly, and reapply once settled.
- Pets: Avoid contact with pets during the healing process to reduce the risk of contamination.

Healing Tips

- Keep the wrap as dry as possible during use. Prolonged exposure to water is not recommended.
- Stay hydrated and eat well to support optimal healing.

Important Notes

- Use only as directed.
- Do not apply to infected skin.
- If you experience irritation or a burning sensation, remove the wrap and clean the tattoo with ZOOTATTOO® WASH, a gentle soap or natural Castile soap.
- Discontinuing use due to an allergic reaction will not harm your tattoo.
- If symptoms persist, consult your health practitioner.
